Relationship Dashboard

The Heartbeat Monitor allows you to track your personal satisfaction with your partner over time. This information is not visible to your partner. More important than your current number is how you are trending over time. If your number is low, but it's higher than it has been, things are moving in the right direction - and vice versa.

- You are very happy with your relationship.
- You are happy with your relationship - and you have room for growth.
- You are less than happy with your relationship - consider relationship coaching
- Your relationship is in trouble - consider relationship coaching or counseling.

Promise Ping

Assignment

Click here to change question

Make a meaningful promise about something you will stop doing, or do less often (be specific about how much less), that your partner would appreciate.

I will...

Note that your promise should be in time. If you're going to quit smoking, or take your partner to dinner, say exactly by when that will happen. Enter the date here:

Add in anything else you like to say (optional).

Love Lists

Love Lists allow you to communicate with your partner on an ongoing basis about what works for you in feeling loved, safe and taken care of in your relationship. As you complete various levels in LovePong, more lists are made available to you and your partner. We recommend you update your lists at least monthly, and review your partner's lists at least once a month.
